RUTHENIANS CELEBRATION

Christmas of the Eastern Church is Being Observed in Edmonton This Week

UP ON NAMAYO AVENUE

A Very Large Congregation Attended a Four Hour Service Beginning at Seven Yesterday Morning

The bell of the little Ruthenian Catholic church, on Namayo avenue, rang joyously yesterday morning on the opening day of the Christmas festivities for the Ruthenian people of Edmonton. At seven o'clock the doors of the church were thrown open and crowds gathered to witness the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. From seven o'clock until eleven o'clock the service was in progress and was resumed at seven o'clock last evening. It was a general Ruthenian holiday in which all thoughts of toil were replaced by joy and gladness. The day was delightfully spent in a joint commemoration of the coming of Christ into the world and of the manifestation of the infant Christ to the Magi who had been guided by his start in the east.

But Christmas Day is the 25th of December! How is it that the Ruthenian people have postponed the celebration until so late a date? The history of the early Christian church gives the explanation. Christianity was espoused by the Roman world and later by the Greek world. This divided the church of Christ into two camps which became known as the western church and the eastern church. The eastern church placed as much significance on the manifestation of Christ to the Magi as on his birth, and the church festival on January 6th was intended to commemorate both. In the 4th century the western church came to observe the feast of the nativity on December 25th and fixed on this date as the one the more particularly observed. The eastern church retained the 6th of January which to this day is the celebration day of all adherents of the Greek Catholic Church.

The Ruthenians of Edmonton have in the church on Namayo avenue a replica of the church of their homeland in southeastern Europe. The sun reflects from the cupola above and the interior is complete with the sacred altar, the reverent priest, and the devout worshippers.

The religious celebration at this period of the year extends over three days.

To-day is St. Joseph's day, which is commemorated by a religious chant in the church at 10 a.m., and vespers this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The evening service comes early to make way for the entertainment which will be given at 8 o'clock in the German Hall, Kristina avenue. This will be a reproduction of the scenes given in the Separate School Hall last Tuesday evening. It consists of a spectacular play with dramatic action and tableaux representing the birth of Christ.

Sunday will be the feast of St. Martin. It will be observed by service in the church from 8.30 to 12 o'clock and an evening service at 7 o'clock.

WESTENDERS ORGANIZE

With an Idea of Looking After Interests of That Part of City

A meeting of the West End rate-payers was held in the Sandhill Hall, 22nd and Stoney Plain road, last evening.

A permanent organization was effected to be known as the "West End Improvement Association." The following officers were elected for 1910: President, J. L. Conover; secretary, C. P. Waster; treasurer, W. P. Huff. These officers, together with the following constitute the executive committee: John Killen, L. A. Moore, W. A. Tucker, H. Lawrence, K. C. Pickel and C. F. Race.

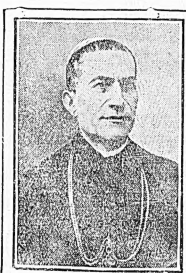

It is the expectation of the association to meet on the first Monday of each month and to take under consideration all matters of general interest in connection with the rapid development of the West End.

CARDINAL SATOLLI DEAD

The First Apostolic Delegate of the Vatican to the United States

Rome, Jan. 8.—Cardinal Satolli's death, which has been expected for a week or so past, occurred today.

Cardinal Satolli was best known in the United States as the first apostolic delegate from the Vatican to that country, having come there on that mission in October, 1892. Ten years after this appointment as delegate Satolli was elevated to the college of Cardinals and was invested with the biretta by Cardinal Gibbons in the Baltimore cathedral with a most imposing ceremony. It was in 1896 that he was relieved of his duties in Washington and called back to Rome.

ALL SHOULD SPEAK UP NOW

Who Have Information that is of Interest to the Investigation Committee

"Let every man have his say once and for all," said Supt. McNaughton to the Capital this morning, "and then let him forever keep his peace." "The investigating committee is looking for information as to the operation of the power plant. I would like those who have anything to say or know anything that would be of interest to the committee to come out with it and let the committee know about it."

LEMIEUX CHOSEN

As the Liberal Candidate in the Coming Ottawa Bye-Election

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—The Ottawa Liberal convention tonight selected Mr. Auguste Lemieux as candidate for the election to fill the vacant seat created by the resignation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The candidate is a brother of the Postmaster-General.

WATCH THE CAPITAL FOR STANLEY CUP NEWS.

The Edmonton Hockey Club leaves this afternoon for the east in quest of the Stanley Cup. The keenest of interest is being displayed in the success of the team by all classes of readers, and The Capital has accordingly made the most complete arrangements for keeping them informed regarding all details of the trip. Jack Winchester and Deacon White have consented to act as staff correspondents, keeping us informed both by wire and letter as to how everything is going, both before and after reaching Ottawa. The games themselves will be reported by one of the cleverest and most experienced sporting writers in the east.

ONE KILLED, MANY HURT AT MEETING IN LONDON

The Electioneering Campaign of the Peers Comes to a Conclusion Today

THOUGH LANSLOWNE OBJECTS

To the Principle that they are Required to Desist After the Issuing of the Writ—Chamberlain and Balfour not to be Opposed—Trade Returns Cheer the Liberals but their Whips Make Moderate Retentions—John Burns to the Fore—Lord Halsbury Cites Gen. Gordon for the Big Navy—American Ambassador Involved

London, Jan. 8.—The first serious disaster of the campaign, which entailed one death and injuries to many persons, occurred in the eastern section of London last night. The Irish League had called a meeting in the town hall in Cable street. A great crowd was besieging the hall, and with the arrival of a procession of members of the Irish League, escorting the Liberal candidate, Mr. Benn, who was to address the meeting, the congestion became so great that the railing around the hall collapsed and several people fell into an area-way which was several feet deep. One man was killed in the fall and ten were more or less seriously injured. The meeting was abandoned.

To Be Returned Unopposed. Among the first men to be re-elected to the new parliament will be Arthur J. Balfour for the city of London and Joseph Chamberlain for Birmingham. West, neither of whom will be opposed. According to present arrangements 67 constituencies will be polled on January 15 and results in these will be sufficient to give an idea of how the struggle is going.

Not Many Laborites. An indication of the small field yet cultivated by the Labor party is shown by the fact that only 90 Labor and Socialist candidates are now before the electors, while there are 67 counties in England, Wales and Scotland where no labor or Socialist candidate is standing.

Disension Among Irish. There are many signs of disension in the National ranks as a result of which the number of Irish constituents threatens to be much larger than usual. Independents are opposing the official candidates in many places.

A New Claim. London, Jan. 8.—Energy of political campaign is undiminished, but by reason of the exhaustion of arguments by opposing sides it is becoming less interesting.

Lord Lansdowne at Salisbury and Lord Curzon at Brighton both challenged last night the validity of the law which provides that members of the House of Lords may not take part in the campaign after the election writ is issued, which will be on Monday.

John Burns, speaking at Battersea, said the tariffs had caused nearly all the trouble and that a tax on lumber might lead to war with the United States.

He considered that the speech delivered by Hon. A. J. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, in which alarmist statements were made concerning Germany, was about the most despicable thing that ever had happened in public life.

Mr. Burns' Programme. In an election address just issued Mr. Burns declares himself in favor of an Irish parliament, provided Imperial supremacy is maintained inviolate. He outlines a programme of desirable legislation, including a suffrage bill for both men and women, the payment of members of parliament and their election expenses, shorter terms of parliament, the extension of the old age pension, etc.

For Big Navy. The Earl of Halsbury, who was Lord Chancellor in Mr. Balfour's cabinet, has an argument for a big navy, as brought forth in a letter written in 1882 by General Gordon predicting the rise in a quarter of a century of a naval power greater than Great Britain's naval power, namely, Germany.

PROSPECTS ARE EXCELLENT

An Agreement Between Edmonton and Strathcona—Tracks to be Placed on Fifth Street

Practically the only question which was discussed at the meeting in Strathcona last evening of Edmonton representatives and the Strathcona city council was that upon which respect the street cars should operate upon from the terminus of the bridge to Whyte avenue.

The Edmonton aldermen left to catch the last car before the Strathcona council had come to a decision on the matter. They were later informed that the council voted five to three as the one on which the street car tracks should be laid.

Everything of course is subject to what may be determined in the agreement to be signed by the two cities, but it looks as if Strathcona's grant of $30,000 to the C.P.R. bridge will be forthcoming.

A BARN FOR A HUNDRED CARS

Which it is Proposed to Erect for Edmonton Street Railway Department

Supt. Taylor of the street railway department expects to leave in a few days for Chicago, where he will submit the plans for the new street car barns to a car barn expert in that city.

The plans call for a building which will give capacity to 100 cars in the 48-car building which we now have. If the plans meet with the favor of the expert a recommendation to that effect will be made to the council and construction may be commenced this spring. Only half of the building will be erected this year, as that will meet all present requirements.

Mr. Taylor wishes to draw attention to the H. B. Iffland fender which is attached to No. 12 car. He says it is the surest fender in use on street car service today.

A recent experiment at the barns with the fender showed that it picked up a dummy man while going at the rate of 12 miles an hour. The average car, he said, only goes at the rate of four miles an hour.

THE BRITISH WILL LAND

If There is Fighting at Greytown—New Element in Nicaraguan Situation

Washington, D.C., Jan. 8.—The majority of homes in Greytown being owned by British subjects, there must be no fighting within that town. If any does take place there I shall myself be at liberty to land a strong armed party and guns to stop it. This is the substance of a note issued by Consul Moffatt at Bluefields said to be sent by the commander of the ship Seylla, now at Greytown, Nicaragua.

Generals Estrada and Hurlado, commanding the revolutionary and government forces respectively, are now in that vicinity. The action on the part of the British commander injects a new element into the military situation in eastern Nicaragua and in all probability will result in Estrada moving his army immediately westward with Managua for its ultimate destination.

DEATH OF MRS. C. W. McLEAN

Youngest Daughter of the Late Senator Fulford of Brockville

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 8.—Brockville was shocked yesterday afternoon when announcement was made of the death of Mrs. C. W. McLean, the youngest daughter of the late Hon. Senator Fulford. She had recovered from an attack of typhoid fever when appendicitis developed about a week ago, necessitating an operation.

WETASKIWIN IS SATISFIED

Its Experience With Gas Engine Given for the Benefit of Edmonton and Mr. Francis

WHAT SUPERINTENDENT SAYS

Mr. G. R. Taylor Gives the Capital Some Valuable Information as to Working of Plant in City Down the Line

A gas engine gives results if it is given proper treatment and a fair trial. This might serve as an hypothesis for Walter J. Francis, the power-house expert, who is at present in the city making a series of investigations. To substantiate this hypothesis, which doubtless Mr. Francis will accept, his attention and the attention of Edmonton citizens might well be drawn to the success of a gas producer plant in the operation of a gas producer plant in the city of Wetaskiwin.

The Capital learns from Mr. G. R. Taylor, power superintendent there, that the Wetaskiwin power system can easily demonstrate a gas producer plant to be greatly superior to a steam plant. The gas engine is not one of these intermittent kind. It is set going on Sunday at 4 p.m. and run night and day without a stop until the following Sunday morning. Ordinary Edmonton slack coal is used or bankhead pea coal with equal success. A record of what the engine is able to do is found by weighing all the coal before it is put into the producer and determining all the horsepower before it leaves the building.

The Capital is further informed that so well pleased is Wetaskiwin with the success of the gas producer plant that a contract has just been closed for a gas driven pump for the water-works system. It is claimed that the gas engine stands for efficiency of service and saving in the cost of coal and labor. The Edmonton power management has seen fit to install a high-grade triple expansion steam pump and has left results to Wetaskiwin.

Mr. Taylor calls attention to the fact that the gas engine at Wetaskiwin is smaller than that at Edmonton, and that the larger the plant the better the results should be both in efficiency and labor. He says that Wetaskiwin is in a position to save money with the gas plant over any steam driven plant in Canada, unless the steam plant should get its coal for nothing. He is also of the opinion that a small gas engine can be made to run every bit as successfully as one of large size.

Lt Arthau Quails Before the Stern Majesty of the Law—Wait Till Jeff Gets at Him

Terre Haute, Ind. Jan. 2.—Jack Johnson refused to fulfil his contract to appear at the Terre Haute theatre today, and the manager attacked his trunks as he was about to board a train for Columbus, O. Johnson said the theatre was too cold. When a constable served the writ, Johnson mounted his baggage and said he would "hit the first man who touched it." The constable called the police, and the fighter brought down when Captain Armstrong brought enough men to take Johnson to jail. Johnson later tried to engage a special train, but failed. When he saw his belongings dumped on a drag he told his manager he would stay in Terre Haute till tomorrow and contest the case.

FRED TAYLOR IS POPULAR

The Man From Listowel Receives a Handsome Travelling Case—Not From Ottawa Hockey Club

Fred Taylor's popularity in the Department of the Interior, from which he has resigned, was shown on Saturday, when the employees of the Railway Lands branch to a member waiting on him and presented the great carpet with a handsome travelling case. One of the chiefs of the department made a speech, regretting the departure of Taylor, and hoping to see him back again. Taylor almost broke down when the presentation was made, informing that he would always bear in mind the pleasant days he had spent among them. Taylor denies the stories that he is dissatisfied with conditions at Renfrew. In fact, he says he was never more pleased. Taylor expects Kerr to be with the Renfrew team before the end of the season.

History makes no mention of any presentation being made Fred by the Ottawa Hockey club.

The Ottawa players have informed Fred Taylor that they will invite him to their Stanley Cup banquet in the spring, while Taylor strikes back by declaring that the banquet will take place at M. J. O'Brien's new hotel at Renfrew.

Taylor does not seem to have done anything gloriously wrong in leaving Ottawa. He was bound merely by a verbal agreement with President Tate, and when a chance came to better himself in Renfrew he was right in taking it. When a man enters professional hockey he is out for the money and until hockey is organized and controlled by a national association, such as the National Baseball commission and contracts made which can not be violated, clubs will keep on stealing each other's stars. Taylor played a star game for Ottawa, last season; gave them the very best he had, and was largely instrumental in Ottawa's winning the Cup. He therefore gave value for the money he received. This season he thinks that his services are worth more than formerly and asks for an increased stipend, and a regular position. This was not acceded to. Now Taylor did not sign with Ottawa for 1910 but merely stated that he would play with them. Along comes Renfrew with an offer which Taylor considers proportionate to his value, and after first giving Ottawa a chance to raise their ante, on their refusal to do so, he goes to Renfrew.

We do not entirely approve of Renfrew's action in this matter but the old saying must be amended to read "All's fair in love, war and hockey."

The Shamrocks, of Montreal are after Tobin, the fast hockey boy. They have offered him $750. He is trying to get reinstated and has turned the offer down.

THE AGONY IS OVER

Galt Loses Last Game and Retires to the Woods—The Score was 3 to 1

Special to The Capital.
Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Galt's second attempt to win the Stanley Cup was a fierce contest, the score being 3 to 1 in favor of Ottawa. The Ontario League champions became accustomed to the ice and showed up strong. Kerr played left wing for Ottawa and not being well, played very poorly. The general opinion of the local sports is that Ottawa must play better hockey to hold cup from Edmonton. Rathph, Stuart and Lake scored the Ottawa goals. The feature of the game was the checking of the Galt forwards, Ottawa having no chance to get away. Attendance was very small, only 1,500 people witnessing the game. The lineup was:

OTAWA.	GOAL.	GALT.
Lesieur	Goal.	Lehman
Lake	Goal.	Cochrane
Shore	Goal.	Murphy
Stuart	Goal.	Rover
Walsh	Goal.	Charlton
Rathph	Goal.	Centre.
Kerr	Goal.	Right.
Ken Mallen	Goal.	Dusome
Shore in the last half.	Goal.	Doherty
Referee—Frank Patrick.	Goal.	Judge of play—Charles Spittal.

Summary—Ottawa, Stuart, 8 mins.; second half, Ottawa, Rathph, 4 mins.; Galt, Charlton, 3 mins.; Ottawa, Lake, 5 mins.

Notes of the Game.
"What happened to Marty Walsh, 'the perfect goal getter'?" He must have had a hole in his stick, as we don't seem to see his name in the goal summary.

Galt will now retire into oblivion. It was under the spotlight for three whole days, but couldn't make good. Cheer up, Ottawa! There will be a real hockey team down there on the 18th and 20th.

Ottawa play Nationals this evening in a Canadian League game, so probably rested for their ears last night. It is evident from our Ottawa correspondents' remarks that the cup holders have a wholesome respect for the Edmonton team.

Kerr may not be able to play against us. Let him play and also get Taylor back. Ottawa can't come too strong to suit us.

HEAD PIN TOURNAMENT

A New Suggestion for Managers of Local Alleys

On Thursday evening next the club will conduct a head pin tournament. This style of tournament proved one of the most interesting of last year's fixtures, and Thursday night's affair will be conducted on the same lines, but without entrance fee. In these matches the contestant plays six balls for high score, with 60 as the possible. Strikes and spares do not figure, as the score is the total count, of the actual pins knocked down, and ten is therefore the possible for each ball. The game affords the new bowlers a chance of coming out on top—Hamilton Spectator.

This would be a good scheme to try out on the local alleys. Perhaps C. E. Morris, with his customary up-to-date-ness will institute a head pin tournament at the Olympic alleys. Speaking of these alleys reminds us that there is a prize of fifty dollars offered for the first man to bowl a perfect score (300) there in the next six months, and also $25 for the highest score in the same period.

Baseball fans are convinced that "Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, who managed and pitched for the Newark team last season, is one of the baseball marvels. The records of the Eastern League, just made public, show that McGinnity pitched in 55 games last year, of which he won 29 and lost 16.

A NEW DEPARTURE

Princeton Engages an Athletic Professor Who Will Draw Just as Much Stipend as the Faculty

Princeton, N.J., Jan. 7.—The adherents of Princeton are rejoicing in a reorganization of the university's athletic conditions. Following the disastrous results of last season's football campaign the athletic sharp at Princeton have come to the conclusion that the graduate system of committee coaching which was tried during the last season was a failure and that the employment of a head coach for the season was merely only a little better. It is now proposed to create the position of a director of athletics, which will carry with it a full professorship in the faculty and a salary of $5000 per annum. The duties of this office will be the general management of the athletic association's finances. William R. Roper was elected director. He has a crack end for Old Nassau in 1900, 1901 and 1902. He is at present a member of the bar at Philadelphia.

"SOME TOUTS WE HAVE MET"

This is Not by Seton-Thompson but by a Poor Newspaper Man

Jackswell Metropolis: The work of the detectives employed at Moncrief Park is excellent, and there is less touting in the ring there than I ever saw. One of the wise gentry had a notice of the game in tow, when a friend of the latter's called him to one side.

"Don't you know that that fellow you are talking to is a tout?"

"You don't tell me. That is strange I thought him a perfectly honest gentleman."

"What gave you that impression?"

"Oh, I know he's honest, for he told me that he would let me bet as much as I liked on this horse if I bet $20 on it for him. I guess I know an honest man when I see him."

As long as there is a horse racing there will be touts. Why, even in Edmonton at the fair last summer the writer was approached by a man with a wild look and a dirty collar, (it should be stated that we were in the vicinity of the betting ring), "Watch that fellow over there," said the gent, "He made a killing (imagine a killing at the Edmonton fair) on the last race, and has a sure winner for this one." We must have failed to appear very much impressed with the information, for the speaker drifted away. A moment later the terrible plunger himself accosted us, borrowed our card book, just like a real tout, waved a bunch of dirty betting cards in our face and then engaged in a very confidential chat on the respective merits of Tiger Jim and some other ancient fair mattress. But there was nothing doing and he went away looking for some other easy looking guy. We must admit that we fell once. It was at the Niagara Racing Association meet at Fort Erie, Ont., and we got very chummy with "Jockey Powers" Deane. What this charming and highly cultured gentleman did to us was a shame. He picked some horses that would come in first, nodding to friends in the grand stand, but sometimes always happened to these "hot tips" and by the time they finished we couldn't tell whether they were last in the fifth race or first in the sixth. We found out afterward that if one of these long shots had topped a race by some terrible mistake our touting friend would have had heart failure. It seems he used to bet our good money with himself. But that was a few years ago and we have decided to never get caught again. No, never till the next time.

San Francisco, January 7.—Charles Schwartz, who was convicted of violating the Walker-Otis anti-betting law by placing a wager on a baseball game, was sentenced today to 30 days in gaol.

LAST PRACTICE BEFORE TRIP

A Large Crowd was Present to See Their Representatives Workout—Leave Today at 3 p. m.—The Capital's Arrangements to Cover the Games

Last night the Thistle rink was crowded, everybody being anxious to get a look at the boys before they left for Ottawa.

Those out were Hay Miller, Walter Miller, Whitefort, Jack Winchester, Bert Boulton, and Harold Deaton and to say they went fast is putting it mildly. The players are all in excellent shape and if they don't make a good showing we are pretty far wrong. This is not said just to boost the boys. Anyone seeing the team work yesterday could not but be impressed by their work. For a solid half hour shots were rained on Jack Winchester and Winchester gave as fine an exhibition of goal-keeping as has ever been witnessed in Edmonton.

The party leave this afternoon by C. P. R. at 3 p. m., and the following will make up the crowd in the private car "Burkerton": Messrs. Pickell, Brodie, Chas. Taylor, Shore, Bagley, Blackstaff, Vickerman, Deacon White, Mgr. Mr. and Mrs. Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Messrs. Whitefort, Field, J. W. Morris, Griffith, Walter Miller, Deaton, and Boulton, Field, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross got on the car at Winnipeg. A practice will be held in that city and another at the Montreal street rink in Toronto.

In Ottawa the boys will most probably put up at the Russell House so any mail will reach them addressed there.

Jack Winchester has very kindly consented to act as a staff correspondent for the Daily Capital. Jack will keep as informed by wire of any special and will write some interesting letters before and after each match. For details of the play in the cup matches, arrangements have been made with one of the cleverest sporting editors in Toronto, to send us the story by wire. He will be right at the side of the ice.

Between Jack's letters and dispatches from other sources the Capital hopes to keep well informed on the hockey situation and give the people of Edmonton what they want, namely—full details of the boys and the games.

BOBBY KERR DOES TEN FLAT

America's Fastest Skinder Runs to Form in Buffalo Indoor Games—Is Heavily Handicapped

When Bobby Kerr entered in the 24th regiment indoor games at Buffalo on Friday night and the 6th games on Saturday, along with the rest of the Hamilton and Toronto contingent, he expected to be treated pretty decently in the way of handicaps, but in running his races he found that owing to the manner in which the men in front of him were placed, ten seconds flat was only good for second place, for that is the time the great sprinter was credited with on both tracks, which is pretty fast stepping for indoor floors. However, the auburn-haired one was satisfied with his showing. He competed in the 100 yards dash in both meets, and came home with two seconds and two gold watches. In each of the heats, and in the finals, he conceded handicaps ranging from 45 to 15 yards, and at the 74th games it was a ten yard runner who beat him home, while Saturday night the winner had eight yards. Stepping both races in the grand time of 10 flat, the Hamilton boy drew two hair-raising finishes in his finals, and his efforts made a wonderful appeal to the Buffalo public, with whom Kerr is very popular.

Friday night's race should have been a victory, although as it was, the next night at the 6th games, Kerr drew the finish so close that the result was in doubt, just as it was the next night at the 6th games. On Friday the Canadian suffered from a pair of slippery shoes, which gave him a poor start on the slippery floor and this undoubtedly gave Houpli, the 15-year old boy with the 10-yard handicap, who eventually won the race a chance that he was hardly entitled to.

JACK WINCHESTER A BENEDICT

Popular Goal-Keeper of the Cup Challengers Gets Married at 1:30 Today—A Novel Honeymoon

The many friends of Jack Winchester, not only in Edmonton, but all over Canada, will join with the Capital in tendering their hearty congratulations to the popular athlete.

Jack was married this afternoon at 1:30 p. m. to Miss Edna Sundebach of this city. The ceremony was performed at the First Baptist Church by Rev. F. W. Patterson and was witnessed by a number of the happy couple's intimate friends.

The honeymoon will be of a novel nature. At three p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Winchester joined the Edmonton Stanley Cup challengers in their private car, "Burkerton," and left for the east. There is no question that one of the most anxious supporters of the Edmonton team in the Ottawa rink will be Mrs. Jack Winchester, and it is also a dead surety that Jack will put up the game of his life.

Here, wishing them long life and happiness.

DIDIER PITRE, OUTLAW

The Artful Dodger is Delivered Into the Hands of the Nationals by the Law Courts

The famous injunction case of Didier Pitre, the artful dodger of hockey, or is it card game, who has been claimed by the Nationals and Les Canadiens, has been decided by Judge Bruneau in the Nationals' favor. Les Canadiens should get down on their knees and thank goodness that merciful providence in the person of the learned judge, saved them from getting Pitre. He is a quince of the deepest yellow, and why hockey clubs should fight over him is beyond our comprehension. However, "all the fools are not dead yet," as is proved by the Canadians deciding to enter an appeal. If the Nationals want any report from Edmonton as to the dodgers' ability as a hockeyist, it will be readily obtainable. We think it will prove like the case of the servant who applied for a position. The lady said "I can't engage you without some suitable references."

"I did have a lot of them, but I tore them up." "Why did you do that, you foolish girl?" "Well, man, you would have torn them up yourself if you could only have seen them," rejoined the maid. That is the kind of a reference we would hand him.

he expected to be treated pretty decently in the way of handicaps, but in running his races he found that owing to the manner in which the men in front of him were placed, ten seconds flat was only good for second place, for that is the time the great sprinter was credited with on both tracks, which is pretty fast stepping for indoor floors. IRISH CANADIANS WERE STRONG IN '09

A Short Resume of the Athletic Successes of this Flourishing Edmonton Club

Edmonton's newest athletic club, the Irish Canadian A. A. C., has just completed the first half year of its existence, and can justly look back on a record which would put many older organizations to shame. The secretary-treasurer's report is to hand and shows last year to have been very successful, both financially and in regard to athletic honors.

Fanned into existence by the enthusiasm of the Hibernian Football team, the association was born June 1st, 1909, and from its very inception enrolled men in its ranks from every line of athletics. At present it stands first in the province. This success is in the main due to the indefatigable efforts of President J. A. Gorman, Manager A. S. Seward, and Trainer John Buchanan.

A glance at the accomplishments during the season tells the tale of the success. The I. C. A. A. now hold five provincial championships of Alberta and one of Saskatchewan. The following is the summary: Mayberry Cup for five mile championship of Alberta and Saskatchewan, won at Lloydminster. At the civic holiday sports in this city twelve prizes were captured, three of them first; viz., 5 mile race, one mile and tug of war. At the provincial meeting at Calgary on Labor day, a team of six returned with the five provincial championships, fourteen medals and two cups. First in 16 lb. shot put, first in hammer; first in the running high jump; first in five mile race and one mile. I. C. A. C. also won the only series for the cup presented by Hon. C. W. Cross.

The association now has 102 active members who showed their interest by attending the 200 different meetings held, in great numbers.

The new athletic grounds are to be laid out by the exhibition committee, which body is willing to entertain any suitable suggestion in regard to training quarters.

Arrangements will also be made to finance trips for the I. C. A. A. teams to the Dominion an provincial championships meets.

The year 1909 was a banner year but it is the intention of this, our youngest and at the same time our strongest athletic association to make 1910, one that will go down in red letters in the annals of the club.

"The Girl from Manilla."

The San Francisco Opera Company will present at the Empire Theatre to-night and for the first time in this city "The Girl from Manilla," a screamingly funny comedy set to music, adapted from "Turned Up," a farcical comedy by Mark Melrose, by Dan Young, the new stage director of the company. "The Girl from Manilla" has all the requisites necessary for a successful evening's entertainment. Estelle Young, the new soubrette, has a dainty part in Miss Russell of New York. Captain Russell, a gruff but kind-hearted old sea dog, introduces Dan Young to an Edmonton audience. Gouldson Russell, the juvenile lead, falls to James Stevens. Amy Leicester is a "scream" as the tearful widow, and Mabel Day plays Nettie Steadman. Teddy Webb as the undertaker, Hearsam Grave, will prove irresistibly funny. "The Girl from Manilla" is full of action from beginning to end, and will not fail to keep the audience in an uproar of laughter. "Pretty Tough for Me," "The Message of the Red, Red Rose," "I'd Be a Sailor," "Grave the Undertaker," "Once Upon a Time," and "Are You My Lulu," are some of the most important musical numbers. The San Francisco Opera Company gives a ladies' and children's matinee of "They Loved a Lassie" at 3 p.m.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl."

The San Francisco Opera Company never did better than last night in "The Time, the Place and the Girl" at the Empire. "The opportunity of hearing so great an operatic success was taken advantage of by a large audience. Teddy Webb was at his very best as Johnny Hickey, while Amy Leicester had a part more in keeping with her very decided ability as a comedienne than is usually allotted to her. Mr. Stevens had several fine baritone solos, one of which, "Friends," was probably the most notable, though "Brown October Ale," introduced from "Robin Hood" for the occasion was warmly received. "Don't You Tell," the duet between Teddy Webb and Mabel Day, was perhaps the gem of the evening. Estelle Youngs' "First and Only," and the madrigal at the beginning of the second act, were other popular numbers.

"With a total of about 25,000 miles of railway in operation and new tracks being laid every day, Canada," says the Railway Gazette, "has a railway mileage, per head of population, greater than any other country in the world."

Why Don't You Get This Phonograph

For two years I have been making the most liberal Phonograph offer ever known! I have given hosts of people the opportunity of hearing the genuine Edison Phonograph right in their homes.

"Think of it! Thousands and thousands and thousands of people have been given the opportunity to hear in their own parlors concerts and entertainments by world famous musicians—just such entertainments as the greatest metropolitan theatres are producing.

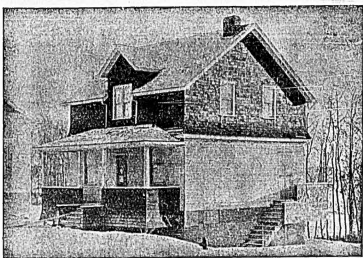

So far you have missed all this, why? Possibly you don't quite understand my offer yet.

OUR EASY PAYMENT PLAN

There are so many people who really want a phonograph but who do not have the ready cash to pay for it all at once that I have decided on an easy payment plan that gives you absolute use of the phonograph while paying for it. $1.00 a week pays for an outfit. There is absolutely no lease or mortgage of any kind, guarantee from a third party, no going before a notary public, in fact no publicity of any kind, and the payments are so very small and our terms so liberal that you never notice the payment.

How Young Dobson Had His Confederates Give Him a Blow on the Head

HARDER THAN WAS INTENDED

And He was Not Far From Being Killed by it—Details Available of an Extraordinary Crime

The dispatches at the first of the week told of the arrest of Dobson, the express company's young cashier, who was knocked on the head not long ago and over $14,000 taken from the premises. Fuller details of how his guilt was brought home to him are now available. Several different clues were tried by the detectives but all proved unavailing. In the meantime a watch had been kept on Dobson. Many hinted that they were sure he had something to do with the robbery. Dobson was at his work as usual every day. The first thing to arouse the suspicions of the officers was when they went to talk with him of the matter. After he had told the story once or twice he appeared to dislike discussing it, and his actions, when any of the detectives who had been frequent visitors at the station, went to the office where he was working, were not as they were before the robbery.

Suspicion Aroused

As a result Superintendent Carrington came to the conclusion, after a conference with Chief Mains, that Dobson knew something of the crime, and he took the job of watching him. For the past two weeks he shadowed the cashier everywhere that he went. The officer knew just what money he spent and what he spent it on.

Dobson appeared to be a genial sort of a chap, and made a number of friends. To this end of the trail Mr. Carrington directed his attentions. A week ago he learned that Dobson had purchased a lady friend a set of furs for Christmas.

"Aren't they lovely? Mr. Dobson gave them to me for Christmas," was the innocent reply that Miss Alice Bench made to a question of a friend as to where she got the beautiful furs. This proved Dobson's undoing. Supt. Carrington was present and heard the remark. He realized that the furs were valuable ones. He knew what Dobson's salary was, and he knew how much he paid for board, and what he had in the bank. He furthered his inquiries about the furs. He learned that the first set Dobson purchased came from Toronto and that they were invoiced at $125. These, however, did not suit, and they were sent back and a better set of mink secured. During all this time Dobson was met by detectives about every second day either at the hotel or in the provincial detective's office. Many questions were put to him. "He was never able to give a real good explanation of any part of the affair," said one of the detectives.

On Wednesday night as he was leaving work one of the detectives met him and asked him to go to the Savoy Hotel, as they had a few questions to ask him. He was used to those requests and readily consented. He did not know that the net was gradually being drawn closer about him.

Brought Down at Last

When he arrived at the hotel he was taken to a room, and he, Chief Mains, and Inspector Carrington were closeted together for some time. However, he did not give way altogether just then, but during the rapid fire of questions from the detectives, he weakened considerably. The detectives, however, did not push him too hard, and after about an hour's talking they gave it up for the time being, and Dobson went to supper. Thursday night he was again taken to the hotel. Then it was that the confession was wormed out of him.

The same officers were present. Dobson was put through a grilling cross-examination. The officers saw that he was weakening and kept on. In the end he broke down and told the story.

The confession as told to the police is a rather peculiar one, and hardly seems to be credible.

A Strange Story.

It was to the effect that he was approached by Whistler, who said that a man had planned to rob the express company. Whistler and his friend were aware that large amounts of money were passing through Dobson's hands. Whistler never mentioned the man's name. This happened in the latter part of September. They wanted Dobson to arrange for the coup to be pulled off some day when there was a large amount of money going through. There were to be five men in it, said Dobson. The two who were to come after the money he never knew, and their names were never mentioned to him. Whistler acted as go-between.

A regular code of signals was made up, by which the trio could talk to one another over the phone, and no one would be able to understand them. Dobson was to watch, and when he found out that there was a big sum of money coming through, he was, by means of the telephone and the code, to let Whistler know and Whistler would notify the others.

Dobson stated he was to arrange to have the money ready for the messenger as usual, and was to receive a slight tap on the head, just enough to knock him down, so as to divert suspicion from him. The spoils were to be taken to the man who planned the robbery, and when a favorable opportunity offered, after the noise of the affair had subsided, there was to be a division. Each concerned in the game was to receive one-fifth. He said that they had decided on a division about January 15.

The robbery was committed as planned, with the exception that Dobson received a far harder blow on the head than was intended. In fact, the doctor who attended him and dressed the wound, said that he came near being killed.

Whistler, the police have learned, secured the piece of gas pipe that the blow was struck with at the Carleton Place works, where he was employed as clerk.

The Money Arrives

On November 4 there was a large shipment of money going through. Dobson heard of it. He phoned the banks to have the money over early, which was a new departure for him.

He then notified Whistler, who, in turn, hurriedly secured the two men who were to pull off the spectacular and dirty end of the job. They hired a rig and drove over to the Canadian side. The rig was left in a convenient spot, some distance from the station. The two men approached the station just a few minutes before train time. They were well posted in every detail and did not appear too soon. Whistler stayed behind close to where the buggy was the least.

The $14,000, the heaviest shipment of the month, was already parceled. Bruce Brown, the express messenger, left the office and hurried to his car. The office was then clear of everyone, only the cashier remaining. He saw the two men enter, and the drama, as has been described many times, was enacted. Dobson received the blow on the head, and his accomplices escaped with the money.

Cheated at Last

Dobson said he did not receive much of the money; in fact, only a small amount, not quite $200. After his confession he was not arrested, but was not allowed to go from the hotel.

A Night Clerk Seizes Excellent Opportunity His Position Gives Him

MANY PROMINENT PEOPLE

In the Life of New York Whom he sees From Behind his Desk When They are off Their Guard

A New York correspondent writes: Standing behind the desk in the lobby of the Plaza Hotel from eleven o'clock at night until seven in the morning, is a good-looking, fine mannered and accommodating young man performing the dual role of night clerk and artist. He is an artist by profession and a night clerk by occupation.

The young man is Frederick Alexander Duncan, of Ponca, Oklahoma. He came to New York to complete his education as an artist. Out in the little Oklahoma town few opportunities for advancement presented themselves. He heard that in New York the artist can gain renown quickly if he had originality and ability. So he decided on visiting New York with the determination of studying here and working at the same time.

During the hours of his duties at the Plaza Hotel he has had the opportunity of sketching some of the most notable women and men in America. He has what is considered a remarkable assortment of sketches. The Goulds, the Vanderbilts, Mrs. Russell Sage and scores of young society women have been traced on paper by his observing brain through the medium of his pen and hand. Some of the persons he has sketched have expressed approval of his work and have asked for the sketches of themselves to keep as souvenirs.

Had Determination

When Duncan arrived in New York there was no necessity for his hiring a safety deposit vault in which to keep his money and belongings. He arrived like many other men who have achieved distinction in New York—with just enough to tide him over a very short time. But he had what money could not buy, gentle breeding, a pleasant disposition, manliness and a determination to succeed. He had often read a little Oklahoma paper about the wonderful hotel in New York, of the beautiful women who tenant them and of the wealth and luxury displayed within. It occurred to him that if he could get a position as a clerk in one of the leading hotels he would be enabled to see this side of life and as an incident continue his artistic career.

He believed he would find material in wealth for sketches that would bring distinction. He said he had visions of grand scenes in ball rooms of women adorned in the most beautiful gowns that money could buy and of men and young women attired in the very latest of styles.

Fine Opportunity

Mr. Duncan is often presented with an opportunity of sketching the hotel occupants as they stand in the corridor conversing or are on their way in or out of the establishment. He has often made a remarkably fine sketch as a subject passed from the elevator to the exit, a distance requiring but a few moments to cover. "I have been aided materially by my clerkship in the hotel," said Mr. Duncan. "I would not exchange the experience I have had for a fortune. I have been able to study every variety of dress, manner, habits and deportment. The experience I have gained here has been more beneficial to me as an artist than anything else I can recall."

From the very beginning the western hotel clerk-artist was ever in the lookout for original ideas. When a pretty woman was waiting for the elevator, if he could spare the time, he would quickly make a rapid sketch of her. These pictures he would put in his pocket. In this way he has gathered a great collection of ideas. He was never at a loss as to who the woman might be, for he knew them all by sight.

"One can't imagine the opportunities these scenes offer," said Mr. Duncan. "The opportunities to study human nature, the human nature of society."

Perhaps one of the finest sights that an artist could wish to see in his line was the debutante ball of Miss Marjorie Gould, when Mr. and Mrs. Gould arranged to have their daughter introduced to society with the most expensive debutante ball that has ever been given. That night Mr. Duncan was at his post earlier than usual. His fellow clerks wondered what brought him so early. He wanted to be prepared to use the sketch book he brought with him for the purpose of sketching society notables as they came and went.

Saw the Ball

"I shall never forget the beautiful scene the ball room presented that night. Did I manage to get a peep? You bet I did! About four o'clock in the morning I usually go to the grill-room to have my luncheon, but that morning I went up to the ball-room. There from one of the galleries I had a perfect view of the brilliant spectacle."

But there are other sights in the night clerk-artist's experience which are more interesting. The great marble desk behind which Mr. Duncan attends to his duties as night clerk faces the handsome elevator entrance. It is in front of this entrance that any number of interesting scenes might happen which gives Mr. Duncan a chance to use his sketch book.

Mr. John W. Gates, who was one of the first to engage a suite of rooms at the Plaza, and at $42,000 a year. "He is seldom seen in the corridor at night," said the western artist. "When he arrives at the hotel late he walks rapidly to the elevator entrance and is always impatient to get up stairs. In fact he is so impatient that if he has just missed one of the elevators, he uses his cane on the door."

"These elevators run every minute during the late hours of night, but that makes no difference to Mr. Gates. There being no bell on the ground floor by which to signal he endeavors to use his walking stick for that purpose. If it wasn't that the glass is protected by a heavy wire screening they surely would have been broken long ago. I have seen him do this often."

Pretty Pictures

"In the morning when Miss Marjorie Gould's ball was coming to a close," said the clerk-artist, "there were some splendid sights in the corridor. The young women, as they were waiting for their automobiles, made the prettiest pictures ever. They were all carrying favors—their arms were simply full of them. One pretty young woman in particular had in her arms a number of favors, a basket of flowers, a parasol, and a handsome pillow. This I could not help sketching. I did so hastily and have since completed a picture of her."

"There are also some curious sights to be seen from the desk," said Mr. Duncan. "For instance, Mrs. Elinor Glynn, whenever I saw her, wore a purple dress. One could never mistake her."

"The Count General Arthur Spiridovich seemed to me to possess the most striking appearance. He certainly is a handsome man, and one of the most pleasant I have met. His appearance in the corridor never fails to attract attention."

"None the less imposing is Mr. George Gould. He seldom waits in the corridor except for an elevator. In the evening he goes out, dressed in evening dress and often wearing a fedora hat."

Mr. Duncan was born in Texarkana, a small town lying partly in Texas and partly in Arkansas. When he was still a young boy his family moved to Ponca, Oklahoma, where he was brought up and completed his education. During the St. Louis Exposition he came to the east. He stopped at the World's Fair in St. Louis for six days spending all his time in the art gallery while there. Then he journeyed on to this city.

"It was at the Whipple School of Art, where I studied that I met Mr. Howard Chandler Christy," said Mr. Duncan. "He is one of the professors there. He took considerable interest in my work and has been a good friend to me ever since. I often go to him for his opinion of my work, and indeed feel greatly indebted to him for my progress in my studies."

Peers, that, to reject the budget, would distract attention from tariff reform, an dodge to many of their opponents the very issue upon which their hearts were set. But they became convinced that, to pass the budget, which they regard as a measure of social and political reform rather than a supply bill, would be to establish a precedent that would restrict the powers of the Upper Chamber for all time, and vitally disturb the historical balance of King, Lords and Commons. They were also convinced that the issues involved in the budget should go to the people, and the nation would be permitted to determine for itself whether or not it would go in the new paths. When all is said they stand for consultation with the constituencies rather than for rejection of the budget, but, naturally enough, Liberals who believe in the incurable Toryism of the House of Lords, and who are deeply and perhaps, properly exasperated over its treatment of other Liberal measures, will hesitate at nothing within the rules of Parliamentary warfare to unloose popular vengeance upon the Upper Chamber.

A Lot of "Bargain Sales" Are Now Hatching in "The Opportunity Incubator!"

The mistakes of store-buyers in estimating the buying moods of the people—in forecasting the demands for certain kinds of goods—result in "store-congestion," a mercantile ailment that always requires ample publicity treatment for its relief. Thus are "bargains" created—and marketed. Thus it is that advertisers and answerers profit by the inevitable mistakes of fellow human beings.

In all the walks of life people are given to blundering—to "overstocking," to putting something, some personal contribution, into "the opportunity incubator." In the fulness of time the old incubator yields its prizes to those who wait and watch—who read and answer ads.

That's why the ads. are not only INTERESTING—as giving clues to phases of life both droll and tragic—but are so IMPORTANT, in that they hold for us, for each of us personally, some Pandora-box mystery, some unexpected bit of good luck.

The Value of the Young Women's Christian Association to Edmonton

By Mrs. R. B. Wells

The object of the Young Women's Association is the spiritual, intellectual, social and physical development of young women, and as such the work is more varied and broader than in any other philanthropic society.

In inaugurating such an association the promoters have to be contented with small beginnings, from which naturally evolve the different departments. In the beginning the system is far from being perfect, but as the city grows, development is expected to take place, along all the lines, of its branches, and success is bound to reward the efforts of the earnest women who are behind this most worthy movement.

The work in our own city, as everyone knows, began with a small boarding-home containing accommodations for a limited number of girls, with a comfortable rest-room in which at all times women and girls are welcome to spend a quiet hour, resting, reading or writing. What, alone, this rest-room in the centre of our city means, hundreds of women can testify. In the larger cities all the stores are provided with rest-rooms for the accommodation of their customers. In Edmonton, until the Y.W.C.A. was started, not a single room in the whole city was available at the noon and evening hours for the use of any of the young girls employed in the different stores and offices. The maintaining of a public rest and reading room would satisfy many a philanthropic spirit, but the Association is not content with this, it sees so many other needs of young women.

To the little home came so many young girls from far away lands, asking for temporary help until they could secure situations, that the matron was at a loss for room to shelter them. She was loathe to turn any away, for they were often penniless. In the new home a room is set aside for the use of girls such as these. They were housed and boarded and helped to procure situations. The number that have been assisted in this manner during the past year is almost incredible.

Heretofore many a young girl has been discharged from the hospital during the convalescent period, too feeble for work, and her means being exhausted, she has had nowhere to go and no one to whom she could turn for aid. Now, the Y.W.C.A. home is at her disposal to strengthen her with nourishing food, and to help her find another situation when she is able to take it.

Aid to Travellers.

Sad as it may seem, it has been learned that many a young girl has been allured, from the stations here in Edmonton and in Strathcona, to her ruin. The Y.W.C.A. has instituted a Travellers' Aid Department, and now an attempt is being made to meet every train and all enquiring young women are sent either to the shelter of the Y.W.C.A. or to any other equally reliable boarding-home. The Travellers' Aid Department being protective in its work, is invaluable to our city, and if no other phase of the Y.W.C.A. appeals to the citizen, surely this merits his approval and support.

There are many young women with little chance in life for self-improvement. They would like to attain to something higher intellectually, but hitherto the lack of opportunity or the great expense has made this prohibitive. The present Y.W.C.A. is endeavoring to put within the reach of these girls, at moderate prices, the advantages of physical culture, domestic science and later on it hopes to introduce dressmaking and many educational classes, literary and otherwise.

The social side of the young women is also receiving the attention of the Association. It hopes to have social evenings during the winter months for the classes of working young women.

The value of any Y.W.C.A. to a city is seen by the uplifting influence of the Association on the character of the girls employed in the city, by providing accommodation under the best environment at a fee small enough to meet the earning capacity of young women receiving very low wages; by the broadening influence of contact with those whose ideas in life are different; by the opportunity afforded to form friendships of a helpful nature; by the opportunities given for attending classes and lectures in which are taught the rules of self-help in all departments of active life; by the opportunity of partaking of social advantages which are bound to react and produce a better and higher standard of character; by the preventative nature of the work, in providing for the young woman who would otherwise be lonely, homesick, and often helpless in a strange city; by the provision of reading and rest-rooms for girls and women who are strangers in the city; by the proving of a room wherein a girl may find opportunity to recover from sickness, if necessary, without resort to the sick person.

This movement, too, is not altogether one-sided. It is retroactive and beneficial to those who are behind it, for any woman who allows her philanthropic propensities and desire for doing good to expend itself in this direction, cannot but feel that devotion to such a cause is of inestimable value to any community, in the upbuilding of character.

With such high ideals as the Y.W.C.A. is imbued, good and lasting results must be attained which will elevate the character of our city and will be a lasting tribute to its memory.

Have You Seen This Week's

Alberta Homestead?

It appears in enlarged form and can safely claim to be the greatest paper for farm circulation ever issued in the West.

Every page contains matter of the liveliest interest to the reader.

An active subscription campaign has been started all along the line and with such a paper to work with, the Homestead's circulation will undoubtedly be doubled in a few months.

At this beginning of a new era in its history, those who are desirous of pushing their sales out in the province will give attention to such a medium.

The advertising rates are still low, though with the larger increases in circulation, which it is making, these must be advanced at an early date.

A wise business man will not delay in making a contract for considerable space in the columns for the coming year.

Its want advertisement department at one cent a word, six insertions for the price of four, is an inexpensive and certain result getter.

About Town

Miss A. E. Mollison of Braemar Lodge, Calgary, is applying for a license for that hotel.

Driscoll and Knight have issued their new map of the city of Edmonton for 1910.

Dug licenses will be received at the police department from the 1st of January to the end of the year. Two dollars is the fee for males and $5 for females. The pound keeper will be at work shortly.

A mixed train went west on the G.T.P. to Entwine this morning. It will leave the yards on McDougall street every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 7 a.m.; returning about midnight.

The weather report for today shows some striking contrasts. The minimum temperature at Edmonton was 23 above. That at Regina was 23 below. Moose Jaw 17, Qu'Appelle 14, Battleford 10.

The Merchants Bank is opening at Wolf Creek. Mr. W. E. Briggs, son of Mr. G. T. Briggs, Edmonton, is to be manager. Associated with him will be John A. Robertson, for some time past a member of the Edmonton staff.

W. L. Sovereign, well known traveling representative of Revillon Bros., slipped beneath the train at Lodiymister this morning while in the act of going aboard. His left foot was crushed so badly that amputation was necessary.

"Four dollars and one dollar costs," said Magistrate Cowan in the police court this morning to the first drunk up. It produced a sobering effect, as the man expected to hear the usual "five dollars or ten days." Just why the change was made has not been explained, but it amounts to the same thing for the drunks.

The Capital learned this morning that the investigating committee appointed by the council to look into the power house situation will call next week on all who have any information to give relevant to the matter. All who have cause to appear before the committee are invited to make themselves known.

Through a typographical error in yesterday's Capital the act of J. R. McIntosh was made to read "Inspect Calder, cornering G.T.R. shops, and no argument will be necessary to persuade you that the investment is not bona fide." Which should have read: "No argument will be necessary to persuade you that the investment is bona fide."

Howard Douglas of Banff, Dominion Parks Commissioner, passed through the city last evening to Wainwright Park, where he will inspect the herd of buffaloes in their winter quarters. Mr. Douglas told The Capital of a three-year-old heifer which broke its leg by a fall on the ice. The heifer will have to be killed and it was reported that Richard Secord will purchase the body. Mr. Douglas said that the animal was claimed to have a magnificent head, which would make a great adornment in any household.

The following are the officers elected by the Ancient Order of Foresters for 1910: D. C. R., J. R. Unbach; P. C. R., F. W. Pinchback; C. R., R. Kenneth; S. C. R., J. E. Smith; Secretary, J. W. Hinds; treasurer, H. H. Atkins; S. W. W. H. Smart; J. W. J. Logan; S. R. H. J. Salignon; J. B. J. Thomson; Doctor, J. F. Macdonald. Installation by the District Chief Ranger, assisted by the Past Chief Rangers, will take place on the evening of January 19th.

Westward Ho! chapter of the Daughters of the Empire beg to acknowledge with thanks H. D. Talbot's donation of $5 to Chief Davidson in appreciation of the use of the ambulance. This is the first donation received by Chief Davidson during the fifteen months he has directed the service. The ambulance when called by the order of a physician is absolutely and always free to anyone, but in only two other instances have donations been received by the chapter from those desirous to show their appreciation of its valuable services. Last month the ambulance was called out fifty-five times.

A man named Watson saw his two-year term of imprisonment in the Alberta penitentiary expire on Thursday, but he is being retained for deportation to the old country. E. Fidler of the immigration department at Winnipeg arrived in the city this morning to take charge of the discharged convict. He will accompany him as far as Winnipeg and send him on to St. John, N.B., where passage will be provided for Liverpool. Watson

The Bishop of Calgary is a guest at the Alberta Hotel. The Bishop will not preach in the city tomorrow, but leaves tonight for the north, stopping at Bon Accord and probably going as far as Edson.

A dispatch from Montreal says that Principal J. W. Robertson's European trip forebodes his retirement from Macdonald College. The reason for his action can only be surmised as yet but it is believed that there has been almost from the beginning, strained relations between Prof. Robertson and the governing powers of McGill, the latter viewing with ill-concealed jealousy the pouring of millions by Sir William Macdonald, who has long been McGill's chief benefactor, into educational enterprises which he regarded as of less importance than the classical, scientific and medical institutions maintained by the university. Dr. Robertson maintained his position until Macdonald College was fully organized on the lines laid down by him and until its character as an agricultural and technical school was established; and now retires to carry out plans of travel and study outlined in his announcement.

has been in Canada some three years. He is 22 years of age and has served a two-year sentence for burglary and theft in Newwood. Previous to that he served a three-months term at Fort Saskatchewan. Watson's parents are living in Sunderland, England.

J. H. Millar of the firm of Cancell and Spencer informed The Capital this morning that material such as sand, gravel and brick is being placed on the high school grounds and the work of construction is proceeding as early in the spring as possible. While at the house Mr. Millar placed an order for a large supply of lumber which will be used in the erection of the building. There will be skating at Horner's rink today.

THE DAY IN STRATHCONA

Budget of News from the City on the South Bank of the River

Personal and Local.

The question asked about town is who is going to catch "Musical Pete" for the band benefit on Monday night for a $5 reward.

Kent and Lynn participated in a hockey match between Stettler and Lacombe. The former team was defeated by 4 to 3.

The new city offices, though not quite completed, are being occupied. All the council meetings will be held there in future.

Mr. Wm. Duggan is improved enough in health to be about again. He is spending a few days in the city with his brother, the mayor.

Mr. G. W. Marriott, manager of the Bank of Commerce, left on Wednesday for Toronto on a business trip.

Miss Porter of the Grandin street school staff has been ill and Miss Grace Ritchie has been teaching in her stead.

The third annual Sunday school convention in connection with the 'Scona district will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, January 12th and 13th. All Sunday schools in district are requested to send delegates. The names of delegates should be sent to the secretary at least one week before convention.

Weir Wins Ochaner.

The final game of the Ochaner Cup competition was played last night and won by J. F. Weir in a well contested game by a score of 9-8. T. J. Walsh was runner up. The other finals were not played.

Collegiate Beat University.

The University and 'Scona Collegiate Institute brought forth very many surprises to both the teams and the spectators. It was very closely contested and was anybody's game until the last two minutes of play, when the Collegiate boys scored two in rapid succession. This made the final score $6 in favor of S. C. I.

For the S. C. I. team J. Sutherland played a splendid game, scoring 7 out of the 8 goals. There are no two ways about it, Jimmy is a dandy. He went through the Varsity boys like a streak of lightning. He was well supported by Wilson and Scarborough on the wings. The defence was steady and Clarke in goal played his usual good game.

For Varsity Dixon and Beck played well, as did Blayney in goal, but he couldn't stop them all.

The game was full of excitement and this was increased by the rooting of the enthusiastic fans on the side. The teams line up as follows:

S. C. I.—Goal, Clarke; point, McKernan; cover, Sacher; rover, Sutherland; centre, Jackson; right, Scarborough; left, Wilson.

There were from eighty to one hundred present at the dance in the Oddfellows' Hall last evening, and a splendid time was provided. Lynch's orchestra supplied the music.

The dates of the mid-term examinations of Alberta University have been set. The first semester ends February 3, and the second commences February 4.
